GPS COORDINATES: 44.478051099596, -68.238957853304

The conserved land consists of 65 acres of woodlands and a half mile of coastal frontage with spectacular views of the Acadia Mountains, Stave Island, Calf Island, Schieffelen Point and Schoodic Mountain.

This preserve features two trail loops with beach access. Along the Flander's Bay Trail, peer into an old well. At low tide, large areas of the rocky beach are open to explore. Eider ducks raft up on the rocks just off shore and shorebirds work the rack line of the extensive rockweed colony along the shore. FBC's Taft Point Preserve was acquired as a gift from Jeremy Strater in 2014.

Please note that public access on the road will stop at the trail head parking lot, out of respect for our neighbors' privacy.
